LACTIMED: first field mission for the promotion of Thessaly's typical dairy products

Marseille, 11th January 2013 – From 14 to 18 January 2013, the Thessaly region will host the first field mission of the LACTIMED project. A delegation of experts from the University of Thessaly (UTH) and the International Centre for Advanced Mediterranean Agronomic Studies - Mediterranean Agronomic Institute of Montpellier (CIHEAM-IAMM), accompanied by ANIMA (project coordinator), will travel across the region to meet the local stakeholders of the dairy value chain. The workshops and meetings organised during this week will feed-in the inventory, which will serve as basis for the development of a local strategy for the promotion of typical dairy products in Greece and abroad.

LACTIMED: a EU-funded project for the promotion of Mediterranean dairy products

LACTIMED aims to foster the production and distribution of typical and innovative dairy products in the Mediterranean by organising local value chains, supporting producers in their development projects and creating new markets for their products. The project is implemented under the ENPI CBC MED Programme, and is financed, for an amount of EUR 4.35 million, by the European Union through the European Neighbourhood and Partnership Instrument. From November 2012 to May 2015, ANIMA and its 11 partners will organise a hundred operations targeting the various stakeholders of the dairy value chains of Alexandria (Egypt), the Bekaa (Lebanon), Bizerte (Tunisia), Sicily (Italy) and Thessaly (Greece).

100 operations organised around 5 main areas of intervention in 5 pilot territories

- Diagnosis of the dairy value chains and adoption of local strategies for promoting typical dairy products in national and international markets;
- Integration of local dairy value chains and creation of producers' clusters for networking stakeholders, pooling resources and skills, and developing collective ways of access to the markets;
- Enhancement of production and innovation capacities, based on local resources and traditional know-how, by supporting local producers in their development projects;
- Increased visibility and distribution of Mediterranean typical dairy products in local and international markets through the involvement of the media and the retail, tourism and catering sectors;
- Activation of the Mediterranean dairy clusters' network, dissemination of the project results and contribution to the policies in support of the dairy sector.

A local action plan to meet the specific needs of Thessaly

A local action plan will be implemented to meet the specific needs of Thessaly's dairy sector. Local players will be involved in its development during workshops and meetings. Concrete opportunities for investment and partnership will be highlighted to promote the modernization of production and distribution systems. Organisations supporting the sector and local producers will be trained on effective and sustainable agricultural techniques, flexible and innovative production processes, and the marketing methods. Finally, business meetings, trade fairs and farmers' markets will help promoting the typical dairy products of the region to the media, consumers, as well as to economic and tourism operators from both sides of the Mediterranean. The University of Thessaly and the Union of Hellenic Chambers of Commerce and Industry will implement these activities in Greece, in association with the Hellenic Ministry of Rural Development and Food and other Greek, European and Mediterranean actors.

A press conference will be held soon, in the presence of relevant ministries, the University of Thessaly and the Hellenic Union of Chambers of Commerce and Industry, to present the LACTIMED project and its impact on the Thessaly region.
